His Mansion serves two distinct groups in the body of Christ. They offer help to those suffering from physical, emotional and spiritual problems and they equip and train Christians who are called for ministry. His Mansion has been called to minister to a cross section of people to whom they refer as Fourth World citizens. They define these as people who, because of some real or perceived difference, feel rejected and unacceptable. They minister to those with addictions (alcohol, drugs, eating disorders, and others), victims of abuse (physical, emotional and other), those suffering from emotional and behavioral dysfunction, and pregnant women in crisis. His Mansion presents several opportunities for Christians desiring to be trained and equipped for ministry including short and long-term internships, counseling courses, support group seminars, and other classes and conferences. His Mansion has as one of its foundational beliefs that it is necessary to deal with the sins and guilt in people facing difficulties in order to produce healing of the body and soul. Thus the program at His Mansion involves a variety of wholesome activities and learning opportunities. These include devotional times, basic education, spiritual life classes, discipleship, personal Bible study, physical exercise, healthy food, community life interaction, entry-level vocational skills training, and work assignments. Their facilities are open to men and women ages 18-35 who apply to voluntarily spend one year in a community. His Mansion also has Christian Growth Centers to enhance the transition from a recovery program to daily life. These are multi-unit apartment complexes where men and women can continue the healing process. New Beginnings is their program for unmarried pregnant women in crisis. It is a residential program where a woman can learn about the alternatives she has and can receive support and counseling whether she chooses to keep her baby or chooses adoption. They also offer an innovative approach to church based support groups through a seminar called Pressing Onward.

First EFC of Maine has supported His Mansion since 1983.
